Editor Rick Oasen > 10 have asked to receive the newsletter via email, if more wish to do the same please notify Rick. Compliments were received for AMA published work with the newsletter. Mr.

Hayworth asked if anyone is interested in having articles published for the members. Rick requested that articles be sent 1-2 weeks in advance. Hank confirmed the annual dinner at Christ Episcopal Church 2-7p.m. 14 January 2007 and that set-up and clean up should take 15-20 minutes each. A food sign-up list was passed around. Jim Chandler Sr. Honorary Life Membership > working to recognize

February 2007. Mr. McCary is recovering from pneumonia, unable to attend meeting and will possibly miss the annual dinner. Joe inventoried and re-supplied the field first aid kit. The field address is posted in red for emergencies.

Safety Jim Craig reminded us to know ahead of time what is tightened on the engine and aircraft. The needle valve (in close proximity to the engine) along with a loose muffler led to his finger injury. Always have someone at the field with you for help.

Old Business:

Soil project is priority one followed by carpet matting for the spring.

New Business:

Garry Penix volunteered to handle the Programs Committee. A sample PowerPoint handout was provided for previous events held by Aeromasters. Jim Craig requested a copy of the By-Laws and the secretary agreed to provide required for new members, are being modified for changes decided at the December meeting and can be downloaded off of the web site.

Jim Chandler offered to run copies if needed and agreed to handle Training for 2007.

Any further voting for 2007 will be accomplished at the 8 February meeting.

Hank let everyone know that a long-standing Aeromasters member, Pete Kuchli, passed away at the Thornburg field. Reverend George Hill did the memorial service on Saturday 6 January. The floral spray from the club looked good and Aeromasters' were well represented. Steve Watkins encouraged those interested in combat electrics to see him. Dan Haworth reminded folks that decals, jackets and hats are available.

Jim Craig did the raffle, asked Melvin Elliott (our newest member) to draw the winning ticket > Dave Miller won.

Jim Chandler motioned, 2nd by Rick Oasen to adjourn at 8:20p.m. all approved.

If interested:

Aeromasters hats ($12), jackets ($22) and decals ($2 - $.50 goes to the club) are available.
